

But in vain do they worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men. -

That Link

Earlier this week I posted in my Facebook group a link to an article that appeared in this week's issue of Spectrum Magazine. This article should have been of major interest to those who are current members and former members of the SDA church. If you didn't happen to catch the link on Facebook I'll place the link at the bottom of this blurb. If you haven't read the article then I suggest you read it for clarification of what I'm about to say.

When I read the article I sent the link to a few people with the hopes they would read it. One of the places I sent the link was to Come and Reason Ministries. As I had hoped, Dr. Jennings tackled the issues that were raised in this article.

My apologies for not posting something here during the night. I seem to have a virus or something. I have been experiencing muscle pain and wanting to sleep. That need for sleep caused me to omit writing something last night and I just don't feel up to writing something now. As for Elkanah, I don't know why he didn't write anything. I've been asleep and not talking with him much because of it.

So, with my apologies for not writing something myself, I instead give you the link to the Bible study class taught this morning by Dr. Tim Jennings. As expected, he brought much insight into the workings behind the article that was in Spectrum Magazine.

Much love to all,

Hannah
